How do you meet your skills needs? - A Survey of Australian Employers

As an employer, you know how important it is to find the right people with the right skills for your organisation. We would like to hear your views on how your organisation employs and trains staff.

The National Centre for Vocational Education Research (NCVER) and Wallis Strategic Market and Social Research (Wallis) are conducting a biennial survey on behalf of the Australian Government to find out how employers meet their skill needs, particularly through their interaction with the education and training system.

An interviewer from Wallis will contact you shortly and will ask to speak to the person responsible for employing or arranging training for staff in your organisation. If this is not you, please pass this letter on to the correct person.

The survey takes about 10 minutes to complete. The enclosed brochure contains information to help you complete the survey.

Your information will remain confidential and only summary responses will be reported. Participation in the survey is voluntary. However, it is important that the results represent all employers.

If you have any questions about the survey, please contact Wallis on freecall 1800 113 444, or visit their website at www.wallisgroup.com.au.

Thank you for your participation in this important study. The results will be published on the NCVER’s website in December 2015 (see www.ncver.edu.au).

Yours sincerely

Craig Fowler
