Final call for AVETMISS data

Thank you to all RTOs who submitted their 2014 nationally accredited training activity (AVETMISS data) to NCVER either directly or via a state training authority.

If you have recently been notified by your VET registering body that you still need to submit your 2014 AVETMISS data to NCVER (by 12 noon AEST on 25 June 2015) and need assistance, please contact our client support team.

If you are unable to comply with your registering body’s request, please contact them directly.

Classification and validation updates

The AVETMISS classifications and validation rules were updated on 17 June 2015. For more details, please refer to the ‘Updates to classifications and validation rules’ section once logged in to the AVETMISS Validation Software (AVS). Details can also be found in the AVETMISS AVS update document.

Help us help you!

Our small client support team has handled almost 9000 enquiries since 5 January 2015. The best way to contact us is via the online contact form because it automatically generates an incident ticket, which ensures a quicker response.

If you do call us, you may be asked to leave a message so that you are not kept waiting too long. Please leave your contact name, full phone number (including area code) and RTO number so that we can call you back as soon as possible. Please do not leave multiple messages as it slows us down.

We welcome constructive feedback. If you have any feedback or suggestions on your recent experience with this service, please email support@ncver.edu.au.

Quality indicator reporting

Competency Completion Online System

The Competency Completion Online System (CCOS) is now open for RTOs who either had a year’s grace period or an exemption from reporting 2014 nationally accredited training activity (AVETMISS data).
If you submitted 2014 AVETMISS data either directly to NCVER or via a state training authority or other body, you will not be able to access the CCOS system (as you do not need to report your data again).

Learner Engagement and Employer Satisfaction Surveys

The Learner Engagement and Employer Satisfaction quality indicator survey reports need to be submitted in full to your VET registering body by close of business on 30 June 2015. Check with your VET registering body for further details.

Student Outcomes Survey

Australia’s major survey of student satisfaction with the nation’s VET system is underway. Over 300 000 students who completed their training with government funding or with a government supported TAFE institute, private training provider, or adult and community education provider in 2014 are being asked about their experience.

Managed by NCVER on behalf of the Australian, state and territory governments, the annual Student Outcomes Survey provides information on VET students’ employment outcomes and satisfaction with their training.

Results from this survey will be available on the NCVER Portal in late 2015. More information is available in the recently issued media release.

Unique Student Identifier

An updated version of the ‘Unique Student Identifier’ AVETMISS fact sheet can be found on our Portal. This contains the latest information on the USI and how it is validated using the AVETMISS Validation Software. Please also refer to the AVETMISS AVS update document for the latest information on USI validation.

Update to the standard enrolment form

The standard enrolment form, provided by NCVER to assist with the collation of AVETMISS-compliant student data, has recently been updated with a Unique Student Identifier (USI) section. The updated form can be accessed from the NCVER Portal.

Stay informed

Do you need information about Australia’s training system for your business?

NCVER publishes a wide range of research and data on Australia’s VET system. You can now receive information about these releases on the day it’s released, or via a weekly or monthly summary. Simply subscribe here to receive evidence-based information, free of charge.